THE CHINA MAIL.

HONGKONG, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24, 1878.

THE decisive nature of the reply of the Chinese Government to the proposal of the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce for the establishment of an Imperial Mint in China, and the reported disinclination of the Home Government to undertake the coinage of a British dollar, leave the currency question within very narrow limits. We have now simply to consider whether we will coin the dollar ourselves or continue to put up with existing difficulties and inconveniences in currency matters. Up to the present neither the project for establishing a mint in Hongkong, nor of coining a dollar at Home, has aroused much enthusiasm among the members of the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce, but now the Chinese Government have effectually extinguished their own pet scheme for surmounting the currency difficulties, it is to be hoped they will extend a little more favour to ours. The day will come, we suppose, when all the obstacles, which Mr. Kung and his colleagues would have us believe are lying in the way of the establishment of an Imperial Mint, will have to be surmounted, and China, now behind some of the most petty countries on the globe in currency matters, placed in possession of a decent coinage of her own. If her near and comparatively humble neighbour Japan can successfully carry on minting operations, it is absurd to conclude that the same cannot be done by China. The Peking authorities appear to have given the proposal of the Chamber, which had, of course, to be presented through the foreign representatives at Peking, some consideration, since they state in their reply that the high authorities throughout the empire were communicated with on the subject, and their opinions in regard to the proposal obtained. The following, however, is the uncompromising reply finally forthcoming from Prince Kung and the other ministers of the Yamen to the suggestions of the Shanghai Chamber:—
"The Yamen has to observe that a difference exists between the monetary system by law established in China and in other countries, and that the nature of the case is such as to preclude the idea of uniformity. On a further consideration of the question, based upon the communications received from the Ministers Superintendent of Trade, it now remains to be stated—that the establishment of a Mint on the foreign system for the introduction of a coinage by the Chinese Government, which would be tantamount to 'inducing the host to adapt himself to the convenience of his guest,' would be productive, there is serious reason to believe, of abuses of so manifold a nature, and the obstacles and difficulties that would present themselves as of such magnitude, that the introduction of such a coinage cannot be undertaken."

There are a few statistics among those in the recently published British Consular Report on the Trade of Japan for 1877, which, absurdly late as the public are placed in possession of documents of this

THE CHINA MAIL.

HONGKONG, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24, 1878.

THE steam launch Ngan Ying leaves for Macao with 250 kegs of gunpowder.

THE Tigre, with the outward European and Australian Mails, left Singapore yesterday (Tuesday) afternoon for this port via Saigon.

At the Marine Court to-day, Kong Shun, master of the Lung Wo trading junk, was charged with anchoring in the River Steamer fairway; he was cautioned and discharged.

Five dollars were sent to the poor box to-day, through the Captain Superintendent of Police, with an American lady's compliments. A few more donations of this sort would, we believe, be very acceptable.

We observe that the S. S. Pacific did not leave this on Sunday as we noted, but is still at Kowloon Dock, some necessary repairs having yet to be done to the condenser tubes. She will probably be ready for sea to-morrow.

We omitted to state that the charge preferred against John Hogan, a gunner in the Royal Artillery, for stealing a dog collar, the property of Mr Thomas Ide Bowler, came before the Magistrate on Monday and was dismissed: We think it is due to the defendant to mention this.

We observe that the Ministers at the Court of Peking for the Netherlands (H. E. Mr Ferguson), and for Belgium (H. E. Mr Serrys) arrived here this morning in the M. M. steamer Djennah. Mr Ferguson, we understand, is staying at the Netherlands Consulate.

A SUK-MASTER was to-day tried before the Hon. O May and the Marine Magistrate for leaving the Harbour of Sowkwan without a clearance. The junk was ordered to be forfeited in accordance with the provisions of the Ordinance, and the master sentenced to 7 days' imprisonment. The magistrate recommended that a fine of $5 be imposed in lieu of confiscation.

THE Superintendent of the Eastern Extension Australasia and China Telegraph Co. informs us that the Singapore-Penang cable was out for repairs for a short time this afternoon, but that communication was restored at 5 p.m. There will be another temporary interruption for a few hours probably to-morrow afternoon, of which notice will be given.

THE Singapore Races are of some local interest here this year inasmuch as about half a dozen ponies and the celebrated description, are still interesting. The total value of the trade of the year amounted to $51,756,981, the exports being about three millions and a half in excess of the imports. As compared with the trade of 1875 the imports show a decrease of $5,379,552, while the exports increased to the value of $9,654,576, consequently there was a net increase on the whole trade over 1875 of $4,275,024. The only two imports showing an increase were those of cotton manufactures and arms. A great portion of the decrease in imports is attributed to the heavy importations of goods in the previous year, part of the stock serving for 1876. There was an excess of treasure exported over treasure imported of $2,382,819, this being nearly four millions less excess than the average of the last five years. The draining of the country of its treasure, about which so much outcry has been raised of late years, thus bids fair to come to an end. The shipping returns show a decrease of 270,966 tons in foreign tonnage. This is more than accounted for by the transfer to the Japanese flag of the American line of steamers running between Yokohama and Shanghai. The general foreign tonnage, indeed, shows an increase of 67,520 tons in 1876, and the British tonnage, which had been second to that of the United States since the establishment of the Pacific Mail line, exceeded it in 1876 and now heads the list. Twenty-nine English, six German and five Dutch establishments—some of them very small—withdrawn from business during the year throughout the Treaty Ports, while four American establishments were added. The following table shows the number of various nationalities for the two years:—

A LETTER from Macao says:—"Lent, with all its mortifications, fasts and penance, has passed away, and the Easter Day was celebrated with the usual pomp. The procession of the Resurrection was most imposing. In the morning at the high mass Dr Ennes, the Bishop of the Diocese, gave the annual Papal benediction to his flock in the city of Macao, a salute from the Monte fort being the signal of the precise moment of the blessing. At night several bands of excellent music and a company of contrabasso perambulated the streets. For some hours the miseries of poverty and the pangs of hunger were happily forgotten! After all rejoicing is possible in a community stricken by famine."

Mr Pio Carvalho, who has been cast into durance vile for the last 24 months for a supposed crime of defalcation of the public coffers, is still untried. The Government, it is said, is afraid to prosecute him, lest some ugly discoveries might be made, and high officials, long gone home, implicated. His wife and 9 children are cast into the most abject indigence, in fact one it is said has already succumbed from sheer poverty of living. The charitable priests of St. José College give out rations in the shape of boiled rice and soup, costing about 5 cents each ration, and Pio's family gets four rations for ten months! I hear that some benevolent Portuguese ladies and gentlemen of Hongkong intend to give a theatrical performance on behalf of this unfortunate family, who highly deserve the public commiseration.

"It would be indecent for the Governor of a colony to meddle with the judicial department, but when a glaring injustice is perpetrated it is his duty to lift the matter to be put on his trial; he solicits no favor, no commiseration. By the Carta Constitucional da Monarquia Portuguesa no Portuguese subject can be imprisoned without trial for more than 24 hours, but Carvalho has been confined and untried for the last 24 months! With such an upright Governor as Sr. Carlos Eugenio da Silva, it is really astonishing how such a case can happen in Macao!"

Police Intelligence.

(Both Magistrates sitting.)
April 24, 1878.

LARNEY.

Leung Aken, a quilt-maker, was sentenced to 10 weeks' hard labour for stealing wood.

Cheng Akai, a coolie unemployed, was sent to 4 months' hard labour for stealing an umbrella from the steamer Potow.

Chan Akut, a bricklayer, was sent to 6 weeks' hard labour for stealing a p'ank.

DRUNKENNESS.

John Downey, a carpenter belonging to the steamer Madras, was fined $1 for the above offence. He fell off Peddar's Wharf into the sea, and was rescued by P. O. J. McDonald (No. 88).

John Haughton, a seaman residing at the Sailor's Home, was discharged with a caution.

THE "DETENTION" FOLLOWING CASE.

The three men in custody on suspicion of having poisoned the soup intended for the third class Chinese passengers on board the S. S. Dewickien, during her passage from Singapore to this port, were again brought up at the Police Court this afternoon.

Mr Sharp, the Crown Solicitor, appeared to watch the case on behalf of the Crown.

The cook was examined at some length. He said that there were four boxes near where the 1st and 2nd prisoners slept. The 2nd prisoner gave the 2nd mate keys to open three of the boxes, but there was nothing of importance found in them; the fourth box was fastened with a rope but not looked. The 1st prisoner used to sleep on that box. The 2nd officer opened this box and a kind of powder was found in it. There were besides some old shoes, and old clothes, and chop stick, and a few other small articles. The mate took possession of the powder; it looked like the powder found at the bottom of the basin. The case was finally adjourned until May next at 11 o'clock.

SUPREME COURT.

IN PROBATE.

Application was made by Mr Stephens for the probate of the will and codicil, granted to Mrs Jean Sands, the widow of George Underwood Sands. The application was granted.

China.

FOOTBOUR.

(Herald, April 11th.)
It is stated in native official circles that the Pat-1 will not return to office as Governor of this province. His Excellency we hear, obtained a further extension of leave, and as this is the third application for such a leave, it has been granted him on the understanding that he will retire from the public service of China should he be able to do so.

Subscriptions to the local China Relief Fund exceed $4000,—the amount of which has, we understand, been forwarded to the Central Committee at Shanghai. To this sum it is possible that further amount (including contributions from those members of the community who have omitted to return their subscription lists) may have to be added.

We are glad to observe that the Great Northern Telegraph Company has re-established an Agency at this port. Last season the inconvenience was, we believe, experienced by many firms from the fact of the Company not being represented here, and the necessity consequently arose of sending telegrams to Amoy or Shanghai, and keeping deposit accounts at those places.

Another point, under the management of Messrs. Duffell & Brockett, is to be started on the 1st June, and to run for six months. This new enterprise will, we understand, in any way clash with the old-established service so ably conducted by Messrs. Hodge & Co. The two for despatch of both boats will be sufficiently wide apart to facilitate correspondence with the shipping at Pagoda Anchorage; and this increased means of communication will doubtless be fully appreciated during the forthcoming busy season.

Successful experiments have been made during the week with the legal ice machine, and we are informed that the proprietors have shortly announced the opening of the same. The price of this luxurious article has been fixed at five cents per pound and, a reasonable figure enough, we are seeing that it is said to cost four cents to manufacture, and that no ice is obtainable this summer in Hongkong under two cents per pound.

The annual native custom of visiting ancestral shrines has led to quite an animated scene on the hill-side during the week. This time-honoured observance has not come to be commended, and is no doubt in many cases prompted by a sincere feeling of reverence for the departed. But we must say that many of these afflicted ones are to all outward appearance very healthy and robust, reminding us somewhat forcibly of that relic of barbarism, the Irish wake, "Lashings and laving."

In the good old days of Sibirian antiquity, and we can now see similar attendant elements in full swing throughout the Flowery Land.

From Wenchow we learn of a most unexpected and extraordinary demand for opium. The Chinese dealers, in anxiety to maintain prices, have for some time past abstained from getting the overland via Ningpo, lest steamers should arrive with direct supplies. In this case, however, the dealers were disappointed, as up to a date none of the steamers calling at the port conveyed opium, and the consequence was that the market was absolutely bare of stock. It is needless to add that this state of things will not be allowed to continue.

(Herald, April 18th.)

H. B. M.'s Gunboat Moorehead started for Amoy on the 11th instant.

The Customs cruiser Ling Feng left Pagoda Anchorage for Takao on the 14th instant.

In regard to the sum mentioned in our last issue as having been collected at this port in aid of the China Famine Relief Fund, we understand that about one-half the amount was contributed by Chinese residents.

The daily Courier Service between this port and Amoy, will probably be restored to its former frequency. It is proposed to divert this service to about the same time as last year, but an effort will be made to work the line during the winter months.

A correspondent at Pagoda Anchorage informs us, that on the 11th instant there was not a single merchant vessel—either steam or sailing ship—in port. From this fact the outside world will be able to realise the anxious and absorbing interest that is shown in the development of the now nearly waste tea leaf.

We hear that the Alphabetical gunboats (four in number) leave for Tientsin at the end of the current week. On arrival at that port the European engineers and gunners, who are to be discharged, and the Chinese will then have the satisfaction of managing these white elephants in their own superior fashion.

We hear that H. E. the Viceroy started on a tour through the province on the 16th instant. It is, we believe, the intention of His Excellency to visit the principal towns of Fokien, and we also hear that the viceregal progress will be attended by a whole tribe of tax-gatherers and yamen hangers-on, whose particular business it will be to levy "patriotic subscriptions" in aid of the provincial exchequer, which is at this time in a very impoverished state.

Refreshing evidence of the occasional indifference shown by Chinese officials to the influence of Fung Shui is just now afforded in the removal of the Mamoi telegraph posts from the river bank near Linpo to a position further inland. If we remember rightly the same official opposed the erection of this line by the Great Northern Telegraph Company at the alleged plea that it would, unless put up at about the river's edge, interfere with the local geomantic conditions. We shall be interested in seeing whether the obstructive objections of those who opposed the Great Northern Company's Telegraph scheme are borne out by the hard logic of facts.

"To what base uses we may return, Horatio!" We are positively assured that the Mamoi Arsenal Fleet, not even excepting that latest triumph and chef-d'œuvre of modern naval architecture, the composite ram and training vessel for cadets, known as No. 20, are being rapidly converted into colliers. One of these stately craft arrived a few days ago from Kelung with a full cargo of coal, including a heavy deck load! It is really gratifying to find that the infant navy of China is capable of being utilized; but of course it is to be regretted that such costly vessels should be condemned to employment of the nature described. It may be, however, that they are better suited to the transport of black diamonds, than to any other purpose—though the carrying of deck loads is a dangerous practice and attended by special risk during the typhoon season. As men-of-war they have certainly been extremely bad bargains. On this point, the strange handling of the Alphabetical Gunboats furnishes us with the following beautiful illustration, particulars of which are derived from the authority of an eyewitness. One of these gunboats went out for shot and shell practice with their 28 ton guns, at long range, a short time ago. The usual quantity of ammunition was served out, but it was observed that in firing there was no sign of disturbance within a full mile of the range—beyond the inevitable smoke and noise. On inquiring into the cause of this strange circumstance it was ascertained that the worthy Celestials were firing blank saluting charges! What matter, it may be argued, so long as the regulation allowance was fired.

THE NEW LOAN.—A Correspondent sends us the following:—

We hear that the new loan by the Chinese Government is already launched for two million taels under the security of the Ningpo Customs revenue, bearing interest at the rate of 12 per mille per month. Several influential Chinese have already largely subscribed to the loan, and we believe some foreigners too have interested themselves in this new investment. The Government having been bothered a good deal to conform to the legal technicalities in launching loans through the medium of foreign banks, and the delay it involves in going through the ordeal, before the money could be obtained, have adopted the simple and primitive method of borrowing money directly from the investors and the inducement in interest held out is such, that there will be no difficulty in obtaining the money, especially as the amount is so small. On the other hand the increased coining of silver currency in America has removed all apprehensions for the present as to the material depreciation in the value of silver, which was at one time anticipated. The proceeds of this loan will be required at once to be sent to Kaohgar, and the money will be withdrawn from circulation at Ningpo and Shanghai. Having only 3,000,000 taels in stock here, all of which will be required for tea purchases in Hankow shortly, and very little silver on the way out, those who are directly interested in the success of this settlement may well look forward for a "squeeze" in the money market at no distant date.

"We believe this is the same loan of which we gave particulars a week ago."—Ed. S. C.

We hear that a loan has been settled between Taotai Wu and the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank for Tails 1,600,000, but the terms in which the contract is couched are so extraordinary that we merely mention the fact of its being concluded.

The Light-ship for Kintoon will be towed by the Kuashing to its proper mooring tomorrow (April 21st). She is a new vessel built by Messrs. Boyd & Co., from designs, and under the superintendence of Mr Henderson, the Engineer in chief of the Customs Light-house Department. She is a composite vessel, and she is thoroughly well found with all the latest improvements.

The American barque Agate, which left New York for this port on the 8th November last, reports having encountered a strong N.W. gale near the Cape; and on the 3rd January a heavy hurricane, which caused the vessel to ship a large quantity of water. On the 4th March, the Captain of the American ship Midnight, from New York to Yokohama, came on board, reporting that his ship, on her passage, sprung a leak and had to put into Ambona, where she was condemned and her cargo transferred to the American barque Obed Bagotter.

(News.)

The Gazette of the 18th March contains more editors regarding the recent victories in Kaohgar. The Tsung-tang is directed to ascertain the names of all officers who have been killed in action, beyond the frontier, during the years the campaign has lasted, with a view to confer posthumous rewards upon them. A request by the Tsung-tang that a noble of the Khoshot tribe who has suffered much during the rebellion and rendered great assistance to the Imperial troops, may be rewarded by a peacock's feather, is also granted.

A meeting of Shareholders in the N. C. Insurance Company (form 1875-7) was held yesterday (April 17th). The Report showed that the Net Premium (after deduction of returns and cost of reinsurance) with other receipts, amount to Tails 688,245.70, against payments for Losses and Claims, Charges, &c., of Tails 327,846.85, leaving a surplus in Working Account of Tails 360,398.85 to be carried forward, the total profit on the business of the Company up to the above date being Tails 1,821,011.23. In addition to dividends already paid, a further return of 20 per cent to contributors and of Tails 75 a share to shareholders, was decided on.

We understand that, with the consent of the Municipal Council, a trial will be made at the Bide Butte in the course of a few days, of a Lowell battery gun belonging to the U.S. steamer Monongahela. The Lowell gun is something on the principle of the Gatling, except that it has but one barrel and a revolving cylinder.

NEWCHANG.

3rd April, 1878.

The native authorities pretend to be moving in the matter of "native opium," and the Tao-tai has just returned from Moukden, where he has gone for the purpose of consulting the Tatar General. Now we learn that the loss of revenue through the increased cultivation of native poppy has alarmed the Government. Of course if the Indian Drug be so taxed that it cannot compete with the native, there will be no import at all by-and-by, which will be a very serious thing not only for the British exchequer, but for the Celestial pocket also. You will note that the wickedness of providing opium is very tall talk, so long as it goes favourably for the revenue; but when this is lessened, even owing to the increased native growth, which surely, if so very baneful to the poor people, could be stopped, then measures are about to be adopted, to what intent? To the stoppage of Indian Drug? No! To the prohibition of native because the latter interferes with the revenue derivable from the atrocious foreign stuff. What a lesson for our opium agitators! That native poppy is quickly gaining the ascendancy is proved by the facts that E. D. Sassoon and Co. have closed their business at this port, and D. Sassoon, Sons, and Co. will cease to exist as an agency by the end of this month.—Shanghai Courier.

MOUNDED.

16th March, 1878.

In a former letter I mentioned the attack by a body of soldiers on a house containing five robbers, with the result of losing their officer and three men and a subsequent helter-skelter retreat. Another much larger force, it is said 300 men,—was sent on and found the 6 increased to 7. This large increase of nearly 50 per cent, damped the ardour of the 300, especially as each of the 7 had a breech-loader, which they all could handle most dexterously. The horses of these robbers are splendidly trained, and themselves drilled with a discipline whose rigour would cause half the Chinese army to desert. When the robber is armed with a common rifle, his horse gallops up within easy shot of the regulars;—he fires, and the detonation is the sign for the horse to turn round and fly at his highest speed, without touch of bit or spur. He stands only when beyond shot of the regulars, and gallops as fast to the front again as soon as the piece is loaded. The rider too is one of the best. He can throw off one stirrup, draw his leg over the saddle, support himself with his knee on the seat, and throw his body under his horse, where he can load his piece. Many Mongols can equal this. Indeed all the robbers are first-rate riders. Another proof of the horsemanship of the robber is that a very ordinary horse under him is equal to a first-rate horse under an ordinary rider.

But our seven breech-loaders adopted neither of these tactics, but, trusting to their superior weapons, they galloped right into the robbers, who were somewhat disconcerted at the ceaseless crack, crack, and thought it best to give the seven elbow room. The robbers got back to Moukden some days ago, and reported the robbers fled. But long-legged and long-eared rumour was in before them and gave the version above detailed.

In autumn there are to be organised three corps of 2,500 men each, to be ready for certain emergencies which are meantime best left in the dark. The land known as Manchuria has often been the stage on which the fate of the Chinese Empire was decided, and what has been may be. We may wish the new armies good speed; and some of the officers are men who will do their duty. These three corps are to be drilled and officered by men tried under Li Hung-chang—not a Manchurian soldier or officer. If it fails, or what is it, leads the present dynasty to put breech-loaders, rifles and Krupp-guns in the hands of the peasantry, while the old bow and arrow is the only weapon exercised by the vast majority of this Manchurian soldiery. They say the bow and arrow can defend the walls of a city! But the man who holds the field will soon have the keys of the city.—Shanghai Courier.

Japan.

NAGASAKI.

(From the Rising Sun.)

It is with much satisfaction we are able to announce that the once pending suit between Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co. and Mr. Goto Shojiro to which we referred in our last issue, has been settled amicably. We are not in a position to say more than that Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co. will receive 120 tons of coal daily (or its equivalent) in payment of the lien they hold upon the mine, as the complete settlement will probably still occupy some considerable time. Whatever the mine is, it is a valuable one, and the forbearance shown by both parties in the matter has avoided litigation, and to a certain extent has affected the trade of Nagasaki for a time at least.

Apocryphal of coal pits, we hear that it has been definitely settled to open a new mine on the island known as Nakasima. If this information be correct and the management of the operations be placed in competent hands, Nagasaki will become in time a very important coaling centre, and probably more than mere local interests will be affected thereby.

What was at first reported to have been a very riotous mishap to the Takachiho Maru (late Lotus) in her last passage from Yokohama to Kobe when she was reported to have run down and cut in two a Japanese steamer, thereby drowning two hundred persons, turns out to be nothing more than one of those enormous goosberries, which in a slack time people will raise or hatch, as on enquiry we hear that so far from there being so large a number drowned there were but 29 persons on board at the time, of whom 24 were saved, while it is confidently asserted that the unfortunate steamer in question was little larger than a steam launch, and further at the time of the accident her lights were not visible from the Mail boat. It speaks well for the rapidity with which the Takachiho Maru's boats were lowered that a percentage of 82 were saved, the more especially as the night was particularly dark.

The Straits.

(Straits Times.)

An amok took place last night at Teluk Blangah by a Malay named Abin, which resulted in the loss of his own life and the wounding of 16 persons. Abin had had a quarrel with his wife, owing, it is believed, to jealousy, and afterwards, about 10 o'clock at night, he took up a naked sword and a Malay chopper, and was going out side with them, when his wife warned him that the police would arrest him, and invited his wife to go out with him, and eventually induced her to do so; and when they reached the street, he struck her with the sword, when she fell into a ditch. He then cut at her again with the sword, inflicting a deep wound on her shoulder, when the noise of the disturbance brought a Corporal and a private of police, as well as some Malays, to the scene. The Chinese in the Champong also came forward, and this appeared to excite him to a violent degree. He ran amok among them, and wounded a number before he could be seized. At last the Corporal contrived to get a hold of him round the arms, and in the struggle both tumbled into the ditch. He afterwards freed himself, but he was finally secured and taken to the police station, where he died shortly afterwards, whether from wounds inflicted by himself or others is not yet known, but may be discovered at the inquest upon his body, which will be held to-day. Nine persons, six Malays and three Chinese, are now in Hospital suffering from wounds inflicted by the deceased, and seven others are slightly injured. The brother of the deceased man, upon hearing that he had been arrested by the police, rushed from his house with a sword, and jumped into a sampan. A Corporal of police, seeing this, jumped into the boat after him, when he struck at the Corporal and wounded him in the face. The latter seized him, and both tumbled into the water, but the Corporal had to let go his hold to save his own life, and it is unknown whether the Malay regained the boat or was drowned.

A SIBERIAN DINNER PARTY.

A traveller in Siberia last winter writes as follows: Our dinner party in the evening—and it was really a dinner party—was extremely merry. Each one laid his stores under contribution. Some brought out frozen bread, others frozen vasa, others frozen preserves, others, again, sausages which could not be bent even if put across the knee and pulled with the strength of both arms. Can you imagine, without laughing, the appearance presented of seven half-famished people sitting at a table with thirty different dishes before them, and unable to touch one at the risk of breaking their teeth? Nothing could be done except to wait patiently for the various dishes to be thawed by sitting on them. At the close of the dinner we ate excellent fruit, which had been kept frozen. Throughout Siberia, as soon as very cold weather sets in, all fruits are placed out of doors, with a northern exposure, and the sun may never touch them. They are frozen through and through, and retain their flavor as completely as if they had just been plucked from the tree.

THE AMERICAN SILVER BILL.

To the Editor of the Pall Mall Gazette:—Sir,—The papers on the Bland Bill in the Pall Mall Gazette, though no doubt expressing a very just feeling, go, I believe, somewhat beyond the mark. For the immediate effect of the bill was a rise of silver from 54 to 55½, reducing the difference in the value of silver between market and American legal tender price at one jump by more than 1½; the difference having originally been about 58 and 59, and being after the rise reduced to about 58 and 59½—that is to say, to almost exactly 5 per cent. Even as a permanent tax that would not be so very enormous. But there is every reason to expect that silver will, before long, really be worth 58. For it is a general law, to be observed especially in countries with paper currencies unbacked by metal, like Russia and Austria, that every kind of money tends to rise to the nominal value. Russian paper roubles were worth 25d. in 1867 and had risen to 33d. in 1876, only because their nominal value is about 33d. For no one expects to get gold or silver for them. If the rise had not been checked by the war it would have probably gone on to its utmost possible limit. In Austria, where also no one expects to get gold or silver for his paper florins, about a year ago silver to 97 per cent of their silver value. It would be too long to explain the causes of the law which I have above stated, and the existence of which is undeniable. Another fact is also worth mentioning. Prussia had a gold coin, the Friedrich d'or; and there used to be a good many ducats in Prussia. The ducats were foreign coins, Austrian and Dutch, and had no fixed legal value even where they were coined; being considered simply as a certain weight of nearly pure gold (23½ I believe). Yet the price of the ducats always was 3 thalers 6 silberggr. If they were full weight. The Friedrich d'or used to vary a little in value as compared with silver. But the Government fixed their value by the simple announcement that they would be received in the Government offices for 5 thalers 20 silberggr. They never afterwards varied in price. I confess that, according to my opinion, the Bland law, though the purity of its motives is more than questionable, is a salutary measure by which the effects of the German measure will be corrected. It is difficult to say how the Germans, by scientific reasoning, came to act most absurdly; confusing the whole bullion market, inflicting heavy losses on the treasury and on many private persons, and arriving finally at a most unsatisfactory result. But that they have acted in this way is certain; and when the enormous mass of silver which they have thrown into the market has been absorbed, the American proportion of 1 to 16 between the values of gold and silver—a proportion based on a century's practice, and maintained in spite of the enormous influx of gold from California and Australia—will no doubt become more firmly established than it ever has been, and thus the bondholders will be no losers. There is also another question raised by this discussion: how far prospectuses are binding. On this question there exists a treatise by Professor Goldschmidt, of Berlin, the first living theorist of commercial law.

HOW TO KEEP A PIANO.

Otto Brunning, writing to the Journal de Musique of Paris, says:—The piano is constructed almost exclusively of various kinds of woods and metals; cloth, skin, and felt being used also in the mechanical portion. For this reason atmospheric changes have a great effect on the quality and durability of the instrument, and it is necessary to protect it from all external influences which might affect the materials of which it is composed. It must be shaded from the sun, kept out of draughts, and above all guarded against sudden changes of temperature. This latter is a most frequent cause of the piano getting out of tune, and the instrument should be kept in a temperature not lower than 54 deg. and higher than 66 deg. F. When too cold the wood, cloth, and skin swell, and the mechanism works badly; when too warm these materials shrink and produce creaking, squeaking, and other disagreeable sounds. Moisture is the greatest enemy of the piano, and it cannot be too carefully guarded against. In a very short time damp will destroy every good point about the instrument. The tone becomes dull and flat, the wires rusty and easily broken, the joints of the mechanism stiff and the hammers do not strike with precision, and if these symptoms are attended to at once the piano is irretrievably spoiled. Therefore do not put your piano in a damp ground-floor room, or between two windows, or between the door and the window where there is a thorough draught. Never leave the piano open when not in use, and above all when the room is being cleaned. Do not put it near a stove, chimney, or hot-air pipes. Always wipe the keys after playing. Never pile books, muslin, or other heavy things on the top. Be careful when using the soft pedal not to thump the notes. Do not allow five-note or other exercises of a small compass on a piano, you have any regard for. A leather cover should be kept on the instrument when not in use, and removed every day for the purpose of dusting. A cushion of wool or a strip of flannel laid on the keys will help to keep them white and preserve the polish. Never leave the piano open after a musical evening or dance. If you are obliged to have it in a damp room, do not place it against the wall, and raise it from the floor by means of insulators, and always cover it after playing. Employ the best tuner you can get, and if a new instrument let it be tuned every two months during the first year, and at least three times a year afterwards. Always have it tuned after a soirée if the room has been very hot.

LOVE AND JEALOUSY.

Love in a lethargy once slept
A week without waking;
And day and night his mother wept,
As if her heart were breaking.
The groans pinched the boy in vain;
He never felt their stinging;
They sang to him a Paphian strain:
He slept through all their singing.

To Jove at length the goddess soared,
Most miserably crying—
"Oh, save my son, Heaven's mighty Lord,
The God of Love is dying!"
"To earth," said Jove, "once more repair,
And cease your cries and weeping;
A friendly leech will meet you there,
Who'll cure Love's over-sleeping."

Venus flew back; the boy was free;
For Jove, on special mission,
Had sent him green-eyed Jealousy,
Juno's own state physician.
The cure, much worse than the disease,
Olympus shook with laughter;
For Love was never at his ease,
And never slumbered after.

Miscellaneous.

No man really understands the decline of the drama until he has written a play which has been politely declined by a manager.

A GENTLEMAN, who rather suspected some one was peeping through the keyhole of his office door, investigated with a syringe full of pepper sauce, and went home to find his wife had been cutting wood, and a ship had hit her in the eye.

A MODERN ARTHURIAN.—Southern Tourist (in Edinburgh): "Can you direct me to the Royal Institution?"—Native (vacant stare): "What est?"—Tourist (giving a clue): "Pictures, you know—Statues—and—"
—Native (after much thought): "Oo!—e's the Stucky Feggars ye mean!"
(Pointing)—"Yon's et!"

The Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty have conveyed to Mr John Burns their cordial thanks for the generous offer made by him to place at the service of the Government some of the large steam vessels of the Cunard Fleet. The authorities at the Admiralty fully recognise the great value of the Merchant steamers of this country as effective auxiliaries to the Royal Navy in time of war, and they have now been them an extensive scheme in harmony with the proposals submitted by Mr Burns.

SIR JOHN BURNES, Secretary of State for War, announced a few nights ago that one English army corps is complete in every respect, and that a second will also shortly be ready to take the field, the question has been frequently asked, What is the strength of an army corps, and what troops does it comprise? In round numbers an English army corps contains, when all its several parts are placed on their full war establishment, very nearly 37,000 of all ranks. Of these in round numbers again, 5,000 officers and men belong to the medical, commissariat, and administrative departments; leaving 32,000 of all ranks belonging to the infantry, cavalry, artillery, and engineers. The army corps, again, consists of three divisions of infantry, a brigade of cavalry, a force of artillery distinguished as the "corps artillery," and a complement of engineers. Each division of infantry also comprises a force of artillery and cavalry, as well as foot soldiers. To give its composition more in detail, it consists of two brigades of infantry, each brigade comprising three battalions, a battalion of rifles, a regiment of cavalry, three batteries of field artillery, a company of engineers, a troop of military police, and an ammunition reserve column. The cavalry brigade consists of three regiments of cavalry and a battery of horse artillery. The corps artillery comprises three batteries of horse artillery and two batteries of field artillery, besides an ammunition reserve column. Altogether, therefore, an army corps includes twenty-one battalions of infantry, or, in round numbers, 21,000 bayonets; six regiments of cavalry, or 5,000 sabres; and fifteen batteries of artillery, or ninety guns.

BRUNNEN, Sept. 1868.—Gentlemen, I feel it a duty I owe to you to express my gratitude for the great benefit I have derived by taking "Norton's Gammon Pills." I applied to your agent, Mr Bell, Berkeley, for the above-named Pills, for gland in the stomach, from which I suffered excruciating pain for a length of time, having tried nearly every remedy prescribed, but without deriving any benefit at all. After taking two bottles of your valuable Pills, I was quite restored to my usual state of health. Please give this publicity for the benefit of those who may thus be afflicted.—I am, Sir, yours truly, HENRY ALKOP.—To the Proprietors of Norton's Gammon Pills, 18, Essex St.

Tax new King of Italy has backbone, and he has very early in his reign set down his foot firmly. Signor Crispi, Minister of the Interior, a Neapolitan, was separated from his wife a few years ago. On Jan. 23 last, at Naples, he married a Sicilian lady, his first wife being still alive. The King, in consequence of the scandal thus caused, refused to attend the opening of the Italian Parliament on March 7 if Signor Crispi was to be there. On the evening of March 6 the Minister of the Interior accordingly resigned, and his department has been provisionally provided for.
